To Whom It May Concern,

Gay Brown served as a tutor for our 6 and 8 year old daughters for approximately 5 months. The focus of the tutoring was math skills, but also included problem solving, logic and writing. We were extremely pleased with the progress our children made, and fact that our children very much enjoyed these sessions. Mrs. Brown was extremely well prepared, highly skilled with tutoring of young children, and had a variety of materials and fun give-aways that made the sessions special for our children. She provided appropriate homework for the children, including providing math software so our children could continue their math studies with helpful and fun software games. We have used other tutors, but none have matched the results, nor energized our children the way Mrs. Brown did. I can highly recommend her for tutoring positions, and would be happy to provide further detail and descriptions as required.

Regards,
